

What's new this month at WW

Honor Mental Health Awareness Month

Your well-being journey isn't going to be a straight line. We all have ups, downs, and plateaus, so treating yourself with kindness and acceptance is key for reaching your goals. Start with these two tips:

- Celebrate you! Research shows that being tough on yourself doesn't work—it can actually make you feel less motivated. Show some self-love instead by writing down three things about yourself that you're grateful for today.
- Treat yourself like a friend. When you notice you're being critical of yourself, give that self-talk a time-out and consider how you'd react if your friend was speaking about themselves in this way. You'll likely change your tune

As your partner in wellness, WW gives you access to on-demand meditations and expert-led 5-Minute Coaching sessions designed to help you manage stress, overcome setbacks, and find success.
